AROUND THE WORLD IN 28 DAYS

Photographs and Haiku

Douglas B. Quine, Ph.D.

----- Book overview -----

We traveled Around the World in 28 Days admiring the beauty everywhere including the lilac-breasted roller; the Japanese Imperial Gardens, and even the street art of bisected passenger vans hanging on the freeway walls in Port Elizabeth, South Africa. These 127 pages of colorful photographs from southern Africa, Hong Kong, and Japan are captioned with pithy and sometimes humorous haiku descriptions.

Endnotes provide further explanations and links to the 4 brief linked videos below.

My First 75 Years by Douglas B. Quine (2025)

My First 75 Years recounts a life of learning and research across 8 careers including environmental acoustics, hearing research, radar studies of bird migration, postal automation, digital document delivery, anthrax detection, innovation, and program management. In my free time I've visited all 50 of the United States and 65 countries across all 7 continents. Along the way I've been mentored by an extraordinary range of people and gained insights into topics from Artificial Intelligence and Bird Navigation to the Zambezi River.

My First 75 Years recounts a life of learning and research across 8 careers including environmental acoustics, hearing research, radar studies of bird migration, postal automation, digital document delivery, anthrax detection, innovation, and program management. In my free time I've visited all 50 of the United States and 65 countries across all 7 continents. Along the way I've been mentored by an extraordinary range of people and gained insights into topics from Artificial intelligence and Bird Navigation to the Zambezi River. The book's 54 chapters recount the "play" of my life (with multiple "Acts" within). They are grouped into 4 sections: 1/ Chronology, 2/ Family, Friends, Mentors, and Heroes, 3/ Alphabetical Topics and 4/ Insights.
